administration knew what was coming, still he had a faint and lingering hope that there might yet be a chance to save a little bit of the law, but when he heard the chief justice declare that the request of the plaintiff was granted and that the injunction applied for against the law was granted and that the entire income tax law was annulled, he was left with nothing but the memory of the law.

Justice Shiras, whose change of front brought about the decision Monday, declared the constitutionality of the law, had nothing to say, but the announcement made Monday from the bench exhibited with sufficient clearness the attitude of each of the members of the court.

MEADE'S RELEASE. Carries a Release. Written by President.

WASHINGTON, May 21.—Adm. Meade was placed on the retired list with a pension. Secretary Herbert recommended the retirement and the president indorsed the recommendation.

WASHINGTON, May 21, 1895. "The within recommendation is approved and Rear Adm. Richard Meade is hereby retired from active service, pursuant to Section 1441 of the Revised Statutes."

The president regrets exceedingly that the long, active service of this officer, so brilliant in its early stages and so often marked by honorable incidents, should at its close be tarnished by conduct at variance with a commendable career and inconsistent with the high rank which he has achieved by his high rank should furnish of subordination and submission to the restraints of wholesome discipline and manifest propriety.

"GOVERNOR CLEVELAND." Adm. Meade, it is understood, was anxious for a court-martial, and stated to some of his friends that if brought before one there would be some developments which would make the administration regret its action.

It is said that it was fear of this that impelled the president to decide in favor of the court-martial. The president, however, held that if the admiral could not be subjected to a court-martial he could not be rebuked. For this reason no official notice came from the navy department regarding Adm. Meade's conduct, and the retirement alone sets in regard to the retirement.

EARTHQUAKE.

Three Thousand Houses Damaged in Florence Alone.

At Grassano the Earth Movement Was So Great That a Loaded Grenade Was Overturned—None Killed, But a Number Injured by Falling Walls.

FLORENCE, May 20.—The population of this city was thrown into a state of panic Saturday night by a series of earthquakes that did much damage here and in other places.

People who were in their houses when the first shock came ran terror-stricken into the streets, and their wild cries could be heard everywhere. The shocks were so violent that houses were thrown down, and in a number of cases roofs fell in, injuring many persons who had not sought safety in flight.

The wildest scenes were at the theaters, where performances were going on as usual. The first shock caused a panic in the audience to look wonderingly at each other. Then the earth was again and again shaken by "earthquakes" the crowds made wild rushes for the exits. Mad with terror, no respect was shown for women, weak or aged, and in the confusion many were badly hurt. Upon reaching the streets the crowds from the theaters met those who had fled from their dwellings and the excitement that ensued made confusion worse than confusion.

At Grassano, a suburb of Florence, the shocks were very violent. The center of the earth movement may be gained from the fact that a loaded omnibus was overturned. Twelve residents of Grassano were hurt.

A number of persons refused to enter their houses during the night. They remained on the streets until the daylight of Sunday morning. Many of them took shelter in vehicles.

Severe shocks were felt at Lucca, Pontedera and generally throughout Tuscany. The center of the movement was at Florence, where, for many years, nothing similar has occurred. Around Florence a number of houses were destroyed and four persons were killed. The prince of Naples, the crown prince, started for Grassano at 4 o'clock Sunday morning.

Later—As further reports of the earthquake came to hand the extent of the disaster widened. At Leggieri, a village near Grassano, no less than forty houses were thrown from their foundations and completely wrecked. A sad feature of the disaster at this place was the finding of the body of a young mother with her infant clasped to her heart. She had evidently attempted to flee, but together with her child, was crushed to death beneath the falling walls of her home.

Great damage was done in Florence. Sunday an investigation was made by the municipal authorities, who estimated that 3,000 houses were damaged. The cathedral of Santa Maria del Fiore, an imposing example of Italian gothic architecture, and probably the most remarkable building of its kind in Europe, was somewhat damaged.

The seismic manifestation Saturday night was the most violent that Florence has known since 1443, the earthquake of 1730, which is historical in the annals of the city, having been slighter. The population of the city is swayed by the disaster. Crowds wander about the streets, their only topic of conversation being the earthquake. Everybody is anxiously awaiting the coming of night, the fear being general that the quakes will then occur. Many persons have entirely abandoned their homes, and intend to pass the night in places where there will be no danger of buildings falling on them. A dispatch received from Sunday evening from Naples, the scene of so many disastrous earthquakes, says there has been no disturbance in that district.

So far as known the disaster was worse at Grassano.

Illinois Miners Going Back. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 20.—The coal operators are gradually winning the wage fight in Springfield out-district strikers, northern hundred in number, have gone to work at the prices offered by the operators—thirty-five cents—and at the Woodside Coal Co.'s shaft the strikers have also gone to work at the same price. It is claimed these rates are better than the strikers received in the past. The reason of the strike of coal here being twice the thickness of those of northern Illinois.

May Escape the Gallows. LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 20.—The state supreme court has granted a reprieve to the Jesse James murderer case. Jones is the young Indian from Rockport, Ind., who was twice convicted of being the murderer and creator of Charles and John Wilkes Booth, and was sentenced to hang at Arkansas, in February, 1894, and whose sentence was set for execution May 21. It is now thought Jones will escape the gallows.

The Supreme Court has decided the income tax law to be unconstitutional. All money collected under the act will be refunded.

Wat Hardin is making a great mistake in agitating the silver cause in his campaign. It is difficult to see what connection the Governorship has with the money question. In thus going out of his jurisdiction he is not pleasing the conservative people.

Boom! Boom! Boom! Everything in the land is on the boom. Industries are starting, wages are increasing, and everybody is accordingly feeling in better spirits. The day is not far distant when we will not even think of hard times.—Ashland Daily News.

The upward tendency is manifested at the iron furnaces and the manufacturing plants. At all the furnaces in the Mahoning Valley wages are to be increased by 15 cents a day, and an addition of 10 per cent has been made at the Phoenix Iron Works, Meadville, Pa.

Ex-Congressman McAloer, of Philadelphia, said to a Courier-Journal correspondent that the wave of prosperity which is just sweeping over the country will have a wholesome effect in the elections this fall. "Just think," said he, "what at seventy-two cents a day, and it may go to seventy-five before the end of the week! I wonder what the unlimited free-coinage of silver fellows will say to that. Good times more than anything else will kill off the free-silver heresy. Let good times continue, and you will see a Democratic victory in 1896."

Secretary Carlisle's speech at Covington last Monday evening was the clearest, ablest statement of the financial question yet made. Those who hoped for and expected a great speech for sound money were not only gratified, but highly elated. The speech is not made up of unproved assertions, but every point is backed by historical and mathematical proof which is indisputable. It is stated so simply that anyone can grasp its meaning. The speech has been published in full in the leading daily papers in the country. Half-million silver men admit the almost irresistible force of Mr. Carlisle's argument, and even the fanatics are letting it severely alone so far as trying to answer it is concerned. Everybody who wants information on the money question should read the speech.

OLIOVILLE.

The good people of this neighborhood organized a Sunday School here yesterday with Bro. David Hite Supt. All the neighbors and their children are invited to attend and help the good cause.

George Newsum is now finishing the roof on our court house. As L. Webb furnished the lumber, and James Lovejoy and Lindsay Webb agreed to do the work. This is the centre of this Magisterial District. We are going to ask the Squires at their next session to give us the county seat. Louisville people will not kick, will they?

Your scribbled meeting at the city of Webbville yesterday and had a pleasant time. Webbville is situated at the end of East Ky., Railroad, and is noted as a great shipping point. Lumber, ties, spokes, tan bark, etc., are scattered from one end of the village to the other on right of way waiting for shipment. Several nice residences and splendid church at this place. Lewis Webb and lady were visiting home folks on Twin branch yesterday.

Warren Fleming visited W. C. Marcum at Fulton Saturday. S. B. Large is sewing ginslet seed.

See More Dunn received a letter yesterday from his little of the Valley. He said he would like to see More letters from her. Sym Thompson has quit purchasing live stock and gone to driving teams.

W. C. Webb preached to a large congregation on Twin Branch at 5 p. m., Sunday.

A. J. Harriman and A. J. Webb, Jr., are our boss millers at this place.

J. H. Ekers is getting up a singing school. Hope he may be successful. He is a natural vocalist.

Jas. Powell has bought himself a hair curler.

Hence Combs is teaching a class in Italian at this place.

W. L. Green and Mr. Long were business visitors at this place today.

There will be baptizing here on 1st and 5th Sundays of next month. The Baptist church on 1st Sunday and S. E. Methodist on 5th Sunday. Let the good work go on.

James Ekers passed through this place looking for a lost girl. She was partly blind. He offers a liberal reward for her apprehension.

ULYSES.

Not seeing anything from our section naturally gave us a desire of letting the many readers of the News know we were yet alive.

We had a light frost a few nights ago, causing potatoes and beans to look a little bitten. The cutworms also are taking advantage of their opportunity, and our farmers are talking of plowing and planing their corn over. We would gladly welcome the warm sunshine again.

We were an eye witness to the death and burial of Mrs. W. H. C. McKinstler on Little Blaine, and can say beyond all doubt that as her body rests in the family grave yard, her soul is basking in the bright sunlight of peace in the haven of eternal bliss and glory.

As in her dying moments she said angels have come in clouds, hosts of angels. How many do I know? Minnie her little grand daughter, who died a few months ago, and Jesus, the man of calvary has come. The way grows brighter and brighter. Lord, thy will be done. God give us such dying faith as this. The husband and family have our deepest sympathy.

Davis Burton, of Paintsville, is among us today. He has been to Catlettsburg on a business trip.

J. A. Beesley took upon himself the chairmanship of the Republicans of this school district (No. 8), and called a secret convention on the night of the 17th inst., for the purpose of nominating candidates for trustees. It was not largely attended, they disbanded with much dissatisfaction. What will the Puhs do next Bio. Ed?

Quite a number of our people attended church at White House on the 18th and 19th inst.

T. J. Dalton got badly hurt a few days ago. He stalled in the sand near E. D. Boyd's with a load of goods in the creek, and the wagon run over his left leg. We hope to see him out again soon. Tom is a hutter.

Nathan Bondere just returned from Catlettsburg, where he purchased a steam engine. Nah will soon have it in operation mashing corn and cutting boards.

L. W. Castle has gone to Louisville looking for a place to establish a butcher shop. He says he will begin the business at once.

John C. Dalton returned from Louisville a few days ago after a stay of nearly twelve months in that country and only stayed a short time and again left us. We are sorry to lose John.

The News is always our most welcome courier. CONSTANT.

Our Rambler.

Ed. News: In my communication from Prestonsburg I did not say all I desired about that vicinity and people. At this date I will only say without fear of contradiction that the people are the most hospitable I have ever met, and that riches is not a requisite in this country. I found my way into Pikeville, where I met the same cleverness as I had elsewhere in the valley of the "Big Sandy creek" (Washington).

Pike county has the largest area of any county in the state, and is peopled by a broad-minded population. There are men of much prominence here, as well as young men of great promise. The court buildings are more in accord with the times than some I notice in counties more in touch with the outside world. This county was named in honor of Gen. Zebulon M. Pike, a gallant soldier of the war of 1812. The first county buildings were erected in 1823 upon a public square which, together with a large portion of the town itself, held adversely, and the Legislature was appealed to for a remedy. By an act passed the title of the town was vested in trustees, who were directed to sell lots and return the proceeds to the Circuit Clerk's office for the benefit of those who should prove to be the rightful owners.

A good story is told me here upon the first justice and first jury trying a case in this county. It is a little lengthy but too good to go untold. After the formation of the county Mr. Dad (for that was his nick-name) was appointed a Justice of the Peace. It was Saturday when a goodly number of men had gathered from the country. At that time whisky was abundant and cheap, and many of the boys got into a fight or two was the result. This efficient J. P., desirous of good government, had warrants issued for the offenders, and they were brought to trial before a jury summoned for that purpose. After the trial was over the J. P. sent the jury to their room to make up and return a verdict which was as follows: "We the jury agree and find that the court is drunk, the witness drunk, the defendant not guilty, and the constable pay the cost."

The J. P., being incensed, directed the jury back to their room to return a verdict in accord with the law and the facts. Out they went. After a short deliberation they returned. The spokesman advanced and with much earnestness addressed the court thus: "Dad, we can't change this verdict, case we air on oath." The court replied, "Bless God, and I will report you to Judge Anderson."

I find here, as also at Prestonsburg, good schools, and the minds of the people well fixed, with the fact that good schools and well attended churches are the great levers to good society. Pikeville is situated near the foot of the Cumberland mountains and is therefore a very healthy location. It is a splendid point for an educational center.

The Cumberland mountains were named by an exploring party from Virginia in 1750, led by Dr. Thomas Walker. This was probably the first exploring party that ever reached Ky. They were from Orange and Culpeper counties. Their course led them through Powell's valley, named in honor of one of their party, who cut his name "Ambrose Powell" upon a beech tree. Powell's river also received its name at the same time. They passed through a gap in the mountain range which Dr. Walker named "Cumberland Gap." This and the mountains, Cumberland mountains, were named in honor of an English duke. These, however, were not the first white men who entered Kentucky, for in 1730 John Shilling, a weaver of Williamsburg, was captured by the Indians and carried through what is now known as the "Blue Grass." On his return to his native land he filed the hearts of his people by his accounts of this beautiful country covered with "well known white clover and corn." His thrilling stories and descriptions of the country were spoken of as a tale told in romance.

"Pat her, dear father, come home with me now, for nia has some carpet to beat; she's got all the furniture out in the yard, from the front door down to the street. The stove must come down and be put in the shed, and the yard must be cleaned of dead grass, for it's time to clean house, and the Devil's to pay, and the front window needs some new glass. Father, dear father, come home with me now, and bring some bologna and cheese; it's most 12 o'clock, and there's nothing to eat—I'm so hungry I'm weak in the knees. All the omelette we'll have, to eat standing up, too, for the table and chairs are all out in the yard; oh, I wish spring cleaning was through. Father, dear father, come home with me now, for nia is mad as a Turk. She says that you are a lazy old thing, and proposes to put you to work. There is painting to do, and paper to hang, and windows and casings to scrub; for it's house cleaning time, and you've got to come home, and revel in ends and cold grub."

M. F. CONLEY.

Congressman Patterson, who has just made a protracted tour through the South, says that it is the belief that the "silver craze" has reached its flood, and has just begun to recede. That agrees with the Courier-Journal's observation. And, furthermore, the ebbs is going to leave high and dry some politicians who thought they were shrewd enough to recognize and ride a wave when they saw one, but who were not shrewd enough for the fact that every wave of financial folly inevitably ebbs more rapidly than it flows.—Courier-Journal.

France, Russia and Germany are lording it in the East as if they had licked China themselves. They have now notified the Celestial Government that they do not approve of the proposed concession of a railroad right of way to an American syndicate, which offered in return to advance money to pay the indemnity to Japan.

The Judge in the Gordon-Brown trial, at Louisville, Ky., rendered the following verdict: "I have listened to the case carefully and have consulted the authorities. It is my deliberate judgment that this man is not only not guilty in law, but his action will teach adulterers that when they ply their nefarious calling they are standing upon a precipice from which they are in danger of being dashed at any time. The prisoner is discharged."

President Cleveland has placed Admiral Meade, charged with insubordination, on the retired list and in doing so administered a severe rebuke to him for conduct which the Executive declared was at variance with a commendable career and inconsistent with the example which an officer of his high rank should furnish.

THE GREATEST CURATIVE AGENT KNOWN.

Opium Habit Cured.

Six weeks' of the Electropoise cured a friend of the opium habit. It also benefited me a great deal. I suffered with kidney trouble.—Rev. W. Bruce, Hopkinsville, Ky.

From the editorial columns of the Western Recorder:—If there is any truth in men and women, it does indeed benefit in hundreds of cases of all kinds of sicknesses. A friend who had suffered long with nervous prostration wrote that it had cured her. A gentleman in the city, who, a year ago, seemed to have only a few days of life left him by consumption, has greatly improved, has been able to go on uninterrupted with his business. Two other personal friends said nothing had ever done so much for their rheumatism. Nothing has ever received so many testimonials from trustworthy persons.

"One night's use of the Electropoise gave me relief from brain congestion and vertigo. I have been a well man ever since."—Rev. George H. Meaus, Covington, Ky.

Electropoise put out on trial for four months for $10. Sent for particulars.

INTERESTED CITIZENS.

The R. R. Change.

A big petition is being prepared up Sandy asking for some sort of a change in the new schedule of the C. & O. S. which will give them better mail connections. The prospects for success, however, are thought to be not very promising.

The railroad company has made the arrangement which suits them best and it will be difficult to get them to change it. They claim that running two trains has been a losing business over since the Norfolk & Western railroad has been completed, as it has cut off a great amount of the upper valley business. The Pike county travel nearly all goes by way of Williamson, W. Va. It is said that there is not much hope for another train unless an extension is made far enough up Sandy to bring all the traffic and travel this way.

Garred-Handy.
The Covington correspondence to the Cincinnati Enquirer a few days ago announced that Mr. U. A. Garred and Miss Elizabeth Handy will be married on June 5th, at the First Presbyterian church, of that city. Mr. Garred is the youngest son of Mr. D. W. Garred, one of Lawrence county's best citizens. He graduated last June from the mechanical engineering department of the State College, and has ever since been employed in Lexington, Ky., in the line of his profession. He is an ambitious, industrious young man of much promise. His prospective bride is the youngest daughter of the late Judge R. H. Handy, who was a prominent citizen of Covington. She has visited in Louisa and vicinity, and those who formed her acquaintance remember her most pleasantly. The News congratulates them in advance.

"Louisa, Ky., May '95
Mr. Police Judge
Please dismiss the case of the Diamond that Dick Stone arrested or you will hear from us.
Yours truly
SHE.

WHITE CAUSE.
The above notice was received through the postoffice on last Monday morning by Judge J. W. Hice. In order to explain the connection it is necessary to state that a party of tough young men living a short distance out in the country congregated Sunday afternoon and got drunk, and in the evening came to Louisa with the avowed intention, it is said, of "taking the town." Their boisterous course soon brought them up against a policeman, who attempted to arrest the noisiest of the gang. Resistance was offered and it was only after quite a struggle that Mont Diamond was landed in the "cooler" upon a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct. One or two others succeeded in getting their heads pounded in the melee.

Before the trial of Diamond on Monday morning the above note of warning was received by the Judge. Of course he paid no attention to the message, so far as the threat implied was concerned. If the identity of the writer shall be discovered, however, he will be given some trouble.

It is quite probable that some cowardly tough resorted to that method with the hope of intimidating the officers in the interest of one of his stripes. It is not likely that there is any organized band of outlaws in this vicinity.

The author of that note needs a severe cowhiding on the bare back.

No. A heavy two-horse hillside plow for $5.00 at Snyder Bros. Regular Price $7.00. Great bargain.

Since the withdrawal of the train which formerly went down in the afternoon there is no way by which passengers and freight can leave Catlettsburg in the morning for points above, or by which transportation can be had from Louisa northward in the afternoon. This state of affairs is, to many, a source of great inconvenience, and it seems to us that a return to the old ways of steamboating on the lower Sandy would greatly accommodate the traveling public and at the same time put money into the purse of the enterprising man or company that would put in a boat to do the work on the lines indicated. Put in a boat, for instance, with fair carrying capacity, manned by a polite and attentive crew, and leaving Catlettsburg at 6 o'clock in the morning and Louisa about one or two p. m. Let it be understood that this craft would leave these points regularly, with much emphasis on the regularity and she would make money for herself and deserve and receive the thanks of the public. Who will be the hustling waterman to enter this promising field?

Come to you if you're a suffering woman. The messenger in this case is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
It's a tonic and nerve, a remedy prescribed by an eminent physician and specialist for all the peculiar ills and ailments of women.
My daughter, Miss Maudie, was sick and we called in one of the best doctors here. She got so weak that I had to help her out of bed and draw her in a chair. She then tried some of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In less than a week she was out of bed and had been working about five weeks now, and looks the picture of health. As for myself I am much better of my female complaint, having taken the "Favorite Prescription." I am truly yours,
Mrs. NANCY MERRICK,
